SATTEDAY EVENING, DEC. 14, 1901

The Water Carnivora. The number of carnivorous creatures found in the water seems out of all proportion to the usual order of nature, but this is perhaps because the minute, almost invisible creatures of which the rivers and ponds are full and which are the main food of the smaller water carnivora, live mainly on decaying vege-table substance, which is practically converted and condensed into micro-scopical animals before these become in turn the food of others.

It is as if all the trees and grass on land were first eaten by locusts or white ants and the locusts and white ants were then eaten by semicarnivoants were that care, which were in turn caten by true carnivora. The wa-ter weeds, both when living and decaying, are eaten by the entomostraca, the entomostraca are eaten by the larvæ of insects, the perfect insects are eaten by the fish and the fish are eaten by men, otters and birds.

Thus we eat the products of the wa ter plants at four removes in a tish, while we eat that of the grass or turnips only in the secondary form-beef

Fish That Go Forty Miles an Hour. Few of us have an accurate idea of the rate at which fish swim. When we say that a person is "as fast as a porise," we hardly associate a quick rate of swimming with that individual, yet he and everybody else would like to be able to get through the water as rapidly. Porpoises have been seen to dart round and round a steamer traveling seventeen miles an hour, thus proving their capacity to swim at a greater rate than that.

The dolphin may be placed on a level with the porpoise, but the bonito has occasionally been known to approach forty miles for short distances.

Herrings, in shoals, move steadily at a rate between ten and twelve miles; mackerel swim much faster, and both trout and salmon go at a rapid pace when migrating up a stream for spawn-

Whales are not fish in the scientific ense, but it is interesting to note that these monsters swim at a rate of six teen miles an hour when excited, although their ordinary speed is estimat-ed at between four and five miles.

Sir Peter Edlin of the British bench was noted for his courtesy to prisoners. On one occasion an incorrigible culprit was sentenced by him to twelve months after the mendicity officer had given the usual evidence of bad char-

"Can't I speak?" said the prisoner. 'Am I to be sentenced without 'aving | Foreign Companies, 'ad a chance?"

"Certainly you may speak," said the learned judge. "Say what you please. You shall have every opportunity. I withdraw the sentence I have just passed until I hear what you have to urge. Take your time. Pray take your

"I want to ask a question, my lord."
"By all means. Put any question you

"Look at him, my lord," said the old rogue, pointing his finger at the mendicity officer. "Isn't he an ugly beg Sir Peter laughed till the tears came,

but he didn't reduce the sentence.

The Costliest Painting.

The Duke of Marlborough is believed to be the possessor of the costllest painting in the world, which was at one time the property of the first Duke of Marlborough. The picture is known as the "Blenhelm Madonna," painted by Raphael in 1507 and now valued at no less than $70,000. It is eight feet high and represents the Madonna and Child seated on a throne, with a figure of St. John the Baptist on the left and that of St. Nicholas of Barl on the right. Its almost fabulous value is due to the fact that it is one of the best preserved of the artist's works in existence.

Bald Through Fright.

The recent case of a boy who-became bald through fright has been discussed by some people who do not believe it possible. But other cases have cussed by some people who do not be-lieve it possible. But other cases have occurred. Dr. Pozzi, a Paris physician, once treated a fashionable woman who had been frightened by spending a night in a lonely country villa evading the attacks of her husband, who had been selzed with violent hydrophobia. When rescue came, she dropped paralyzed, and during the next few days every hair of her head fell out.-Lon-

Dyspepsia Cure A powerful engine can't be run with a weak boiler; and you can't expect to keep up the wear and strain of an active life with a weak stomach. Our boilers, or rather our stomachs, can't be replaced, and we cannot stop the human machinery while making repairs. But when the stomach is unable to digest enough food to keep the body strong, we can use such a preparation as Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. It digests what you eat, so that you can eat all the good food you want, without any distress after eating. "After forty years of suffering from indigestion, a few bottles of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cured me."—Amzi Bell, Fredonia, Pa.

It can't help but do you good
